RECIPE
Education Centres & the best practices to prevent ESL

3/10 - 4/10 - 2016
Thessaloniki, Greece

We work in five countries to research, develop and disseminate innovative, trans-European training and support systems. The objective is to enhance the quality, performance and practice of school leaders, teachers and Regional Education Centres/centralised public institutions in reducing Early School Leaving and encouraging young people to complete an youth education. This improves the quality of lifelong learning for students still at school and their capacity to benefit from it throughout their adult lives.

RECIPE Objectives

Our overall objective is to explore and enhance the quality and performance of school-REC partnerships and thereby help schools throughout Europe meet the 2020 headline target of reducing early leaving to below 10%. We aim to do this by progressing a broad, inter-related set of LLP objectives and priorities focused on Priority 1.2.4 for Comenius multilateral projects, i.e. “Reducing early school leaving, improving the learning of students with migrant backgrounds and Roma pupils as well as promoting gender equality and inclusive approaches to learning”.

Through collaboration between partners we intend to develop and disseminate better quality, trans European training and support systems for our target groups of teachers, school leaders, teacher trainers, in all European countries. These systems encompass training courses for both the induction of teachers and for their continuing professional development in relation to the needs of their local communities disadvantaged groups.

Conference objectives

- To inform and visualize the outcomes of the Comenius project RECIPE
- To inform about and present the importance of centralised, coordinated actions (REC)
- To exchange experiences in how to prevent Early School Leaving and encourage to after-compulsory-education
- Encourage and motivate to include the European and international dimension in their future projects and actions plans and learning activities
